THE LATEST.

An important conference was held at the White House last night at which a plan was outlined for the Federal control of the railroads of the country to be presented to the next Congress. A number of manufacturers also called on the President and asked him to make an address at the earliest possible moment which would serve to allay the uneasiness in commercial circles over the present situation.

The first regular session of the Thaw lunacy commission will be held this afternoon. The jury in the criminal case has been dismissed until Monday. Former Justice O'Brien yesterday resigned as a member of the lunacy commission and David McClure, a lawyer, was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Steps toward the establishment of a separate school for negroes at Berea, in case the Supreme Court of the United States upholds the Day law, were taken in Lexington, but nothing definite was decided as to the manner of providing for the school.

The Democratic State Campaign Committee will meet in Louisville today to elect a secretary and discuss the approaching campaign. It is suggested that Harvey McCutchen, Prison Commissioner, probably will be chosen secretary.

Sentiment is sharply divided as to the probable outcome of the fight in Ohio for the presidential nomination between Senator Foraker and Secretary Taft, and the recent challenge of Foraker is looked upon as a shrewd move.

Announcement was made by the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday that information had been received that the railroads in the Indiana and Illinois coal fields would not advance their rates on coal to Chicago points.

The Standard Oil Company and the European Petroleum Union have, according to a London paper, reached a mutually satisfactory agreement, which will end the struggle hitherto waged for the European markets.

The conference between the representatives of the Western railroads and their employees in Chicago has resulted in no agreement, and the indications are that there will be a strike of the 45,000 men involved.

Richard Wright was found in his barn, on his farm near Milton, with the top of his head blown off, and a shotgun by his side. It is not known whether he accidentally or intentionally shot himself.

Dr. Jolles, editor of the Russki Viedomosti, was assassinated in Moscow yesterday by an unknown youth, who shot him with a revolver as he was leaving his residence. The murderer escaped.

The members of the Wellman North Pole expedition are completing the preparation of the balloon America, and will leave Paris shortly for Tromsø, Norway, whence they will depart June 1.

Senator Foraker still continues his pointed questions to the army officers who have been called to the stand in the Senate Committee's investigation of the Brownsville affair.

The New York Central railroad and two of its officials have been indicted for manslaughter at New York in connection with the recent wreck of an express train.

A spark from a hammer caused an explosion in a fireworks factory at Graniteville, N. Y. A boy was killed and three other persons probably fatally injured.

Judge James Hargis, during a trip to Lexington, expressed himself as satisfied to be tried in Elliott county, preferring that county to any, outside of Breathitt.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has offered rewards aggregating $5,500 for the arrest and conviction of persons guilty of wrecking its trains near Pittsburgh.

One hundred and twenty-five street car employees are on strike at Montgomery, Ala., for higher wages, shorter hours and recognition of the union.

There was another upshot in prices at the opening of the New York stock market yesterday, followed by a decline in the closing hours.

A strychnine tablet taken by mistake for a headache remedy caused the death of the wife of Dr. W. J. Blewett, of Chicago.

A. L. Sutton, chief of the bureau of exploitation of the Jamestown Exposition Company, has resigned under charges.

ON VERGE OF GREAT STRIKE

Railroads Refuse To Accede To Employees' Demands.

Officials Still Hopeful Of Reaching Agreement.

Chief Morrissey Says It Is "Up To The Managers."

ABOUT 45,000 MEN INVOLVED.

Chicago, March 27.—The 45,000 men of the Western railroads seem near a strike to-night, but at any time since the negotiations were begun two months ago with the general managers for an increase in wages and a shorter work day. The conference to-day between the representatives of the men and the railroad officials lasted four hours, but was a failure in bringing about a solution of the trouble. The railroads offered the men increases of 7 per cent. to passenger conductors and 10 per cent. to the minor employees. The latter include brakemen, firemen, baggage men and allied workers. The men had demanded an increase of 12 per cent. and a nine-hour work day, and when the railroad officials declared their offer was the best that could be made the conference came to an end and the men, by a referendum vote taken last week, had decided not to accept anything, but what their demands called for.

Immediately after the joint conference broke up, the representatives of the men got together to consider the advisability of calling a strike in order to bring the railroads to terms. Just what decision was reached is not known to-night, as the union men declined to discuss what had taken place at the meeting. They were a unit, however, in declaring a peaceable settlement of the controversy can only be reached by the general managers offering concessions.

Strike May Be Called.

Another meeting of the union men has been scheduled for to-morrow morning, and the general belief to-night is that a strike will be called within the next forty-eight hours unless the railroad officials request another conference to try and settle the matter without resorting to a fight.

P. H. Morrissey, chief of the trainmen's organization, said to-night: "We have been instructed by the men we represent to call a strike unless the offer of the roads was satisfactory to us. The vote by which this attitude was reached carried the strike proposition by a tremendous majority. They are not satisfied with the men and the men are not satisfied. We are going to ask for no more conferences with the managers. It is up to these gentlemen now to prevent the men quitting work and the only way they can do this is to accede to our demands."

Officials Still Hopeful.

A. B. Garretson, chief of the conductors, also declared that no further conferences would be held with the general managers.

The railroad officials are not quite so pessimistic over the situation as the representatives of the men. After the failure of the opposing interests to reach a settlement and when the men were declaring that a strike was inevitable, Secretary Sloan Thompson, of the General Managers' Association, said:

"We have not given up hope as yet of a peaceable adjustment of the difficulty. We have conceded a great deal to the men already, and it would seem to be but a matter of a short time until the union officials will see their way clear to accepting the general managers' proposition. I am of the opinion that the conference which ended in nothing to-day will be resumed again within the next two days and that some sort of an agreement will be reached."

POPE MAY RECONSIDER LIST OF CARDINALS.

Importance of Anglo-Saxon Catholic World Brought To His Attention By Prelates.

Rome, March 27.—The prominent Anglo-Saxon prelate now here has presented to Pope Secretary of State Merry del Val a memorandum setting forth the importance of the Anglo-Saxon Catholic world, compared with the remainder of the Catholic world. It was stated in the memorandum that the Catholics in the United States, Canada, Ireland, Great Britain and the British colonies number in all about 45,000,000, and it was asserted that no Catholic so vigorously took up the cause of the church in its conflict with the French Government as the Americans, Irish and English, who were classed as the wealthiest Catholics, and as those from whom the Holy See can expect the greatest amount of support.

It is believed that the step taken by the Anglo-Saxon prelates has had considerable effect, and it is even hoped that the Pope may reconsider the list of cardinals to be appointed at the consistory of April 15, with the possibility of the inclusion of an Anglo-Saxon prelate who would be created in the list as a cardinal. His name would not be published for the present, although his elevation to the Sacred College would date from April 15.

MAYOR SCHMITZ DENIES CHARGES OF BOODLE.

Says He Will Prove Them To Be False And Malicious.

San Francisco, March 27.—Mayor Schmitz to-day in a statement to the Associated Press denied the truth of charges published in local papers to the effect that the prosecution has abundant evidence that Schmitz profited to the extent of not less than $92,000 from participation in the "boodling" operations now being investigated by the grand jury.

"These charges," he said, "are maliciously false and as soon as I am afforded the legal opportunity I shall prove them to be so." He declared himself anxious for a speedy trial and declared it outrageous that he should be kept for four months under a foul cloud with the prospect that the trial will be delayed for another four months.

LONG TALK AT WHITE HOUSE

Important Conference Over Railroad Situation.

Scheme For Federal Control Was Outlined

To Be Presented To The Next Congress.

FEELING OF TIMIDITY CREATED

Washington, March 27.—An important conference was held last night at the White House, at which the railroad situation generally was discussed. Those present were Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou, Secretary of the Interior Garfield, Assistant Secretary of State Bacon, Chairman Knapp and Special Counsel F. B. Kellogg, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and all the members of the commission except Messrs. Prouty and Cockrell, who are out of the city. The conference lasted for two and a half hours.

After the conference adjourned, it was stated that the meeting was called to outline a scheme to be presented to the next Congress for the Federal regulation of the railroads of the United States. The plan proposed by Jacob H. Schiff for remedying the railroad situation, which has attracted a great deal of attention, was not taken up at the conference. Mr. Kellogg, who has charge of the Harriman investigation, denied that this question was brought up at the conference.

Washington, March 27.—A committee representing the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, composed of C. H. Smith, of Aurora, Ill., president of the organization; Levy Mayer, of Chicago, general counsel; John E. Wilder, of Chicago; W. B. Brinton, of Dixon, Ill.; Charles A. Plimondon, of Chicago; and John N. Glenn, secretary of the association, called on the President to-day in an urgent invitation to address, at Springfield, Ill., at the earliest possible date, a convention of representatives of the manufacturing and mercantile interests of Illinois and the Middle West.

The conference lasted over an hour, during which there was a free discussion of the railroad situation. At its conclusion, the committee gave out the following statement:

The committee submitted to the President that the present railroad and financial situation was creating a feeling of timidity and apprehension to such an extent that it threatened an immediate curtailment of banking and business credit, which had heretofore been extended to the business interests of the country, at a time when there is the greatest possible demand for the further extension of credit prevailing for the development of the manufacturing and mercantile industries of the country.

It was shown to the President that the manufacturers, in the enjoyment of their unprecedented credit, had largely extended their business in the making of purchases necessary to fill orders which require many months for their completion; that the manufacturing and mercantile interests were apprehensive that a feeling of distrust was getting a foothold which would lead to financial curtailment, and such restriction of credit as to threaten the business results to the great prosperity that now existed in all avenues of industry.

It was urged upon the President that very great good would come to all interests alike if he would signify his willingness to express in a public address, as soon as possible, the keynote of his creative and constructive policy. The President was informed by the committee that, though the country's prosperity was very great, it would soon become seriously impaired by the creation of an uneasiness on the part of banks and investors, and would lead to such distress as to prevent the supply of the necessary moneys to satisfy existing debts, and to the consequent retarded development of the manufacturing and transportation interests of the country.

The President inquired carefully into the prevailing mercantile conditions and expressed himself as most anxious and determined to do all in his power to protect, preserve and encourage all legitimate business interests of every kind.

At the close of the conference the President thanked the committee for its frank statement of the existing conditions as they appeared to the committee and promised that within a few days he would determine whether his present engagements would permit him to accept the committee's invitation, which he expressed himself as anxious to do if he possibly could.

KILLS FELLOW ENGINEER THEN COMITS SUICIDE.

Montgomery, Ala., March 27.—William West, an engine driver on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, mortally wounded Engineer Fraser this afternoon, and finding escape impossible, turned his pistol on himself and died a few moments later. West was accused of stealing a diamond ring from Fraser, and the latter was set for this afternoon in the Police Court. The killing occurred on the most crowded road throughout the presence of a large crowd of Easter shoppers.

Found Dead In Bed.

Hickman, Ky., March 27.—[Special.]—Bruce Henry was found dead in bed this morning at his home, about five miles east of town. Mr. Henry had been subject to heart disease for many years, but was thought to be well when he retired. He was a well-known farmer, and had been a resident of this county nearly all his life. He was sixty-six years old, and leaves a wife and nine children.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR RAILROAD MEN'S SONS.

Philadelphia, March 27.—The directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to-day accepted the offer of Anne, Frank and Clarke Thomson, children of the late Frank Thomson, a former president of the company, to establish the "Frank Thomson Scholarships" in order to give the sons of living or deceased employees of all the lines of the railroad an opportunity for a technical education. The directors accepted a fund of $120,000. The scholarships will be worth $600 a year each.

FORAKER'S DEFINITIVE SHREWD MOVE

Sentiment Divided As To Probable Outcome.

Roosevelt's Influence To Help War Secretary.

SPLIT IN OHIO IS LIKELY.

Washington, March 27.—[Special.]—Sentiment among the Washington officials and politicians is sharply divided as to the probable outcome of a primary fight between Senator Foraker and Secretary Taft for the honor of being presented to the next National Convention as Ohio's choice for the presidency. Foraker's challenge yesterday to Taft to enter into such a struggle is looked upon as a shrewd move that is liable to have a most embarrassing effect on the Taft boom. Practical politicians, who know that Foraker's friends control the Ohio State machine, believe that Foraker will win in a walk. Taft's supporters take the other view.

"Taft will beat Foraker a mile if the question is left to the voters of the State," is the confident assertion of one of the Secretary's closest friends to-day. Such men as Secretary Garfield and other Ohioans who are lined up with Taft declare that this is just the opportunity they want to show to the country that the real sentiment of the Buckeye State is with Taft and not with Foraker.

The People's Vote.

They assert that, although Foraker, with his colleague, Senator Dick, controls the State machine, he has not the votes of the people. These men believe that if Taft goes into a primary fight with Foraker on the question of the presidency, the influence of Theodore Roosevelt will enable him to win decisively. This is what they are banking on.

Although it would be a ticklish matter for the President to mix in a State factional fight of this kind, those who know his feelings with regard to the presidency declare that he would not hesitate to let his preferences be thoroughly known. It may be several weeks before the managers of the Taft boom decide whether Foraker's challenge shall be accepted.

Taft is now on his way to Panama, and will not return to the United States until about May 10. Later he is due for a trip to Alaska and the Philippines. His present plan is to open the Philippine Assembly in October, which will keep him out of this country until well after November, which is the time Foraker wants agreed upon for the test of strength. Whether the invitation for a contest is to be accepted or rejected may be known by Friday or Saturday, when Mr. Taft reaches Panama.

Mr. Foraker's action is regarded as the formal announcement of his candidacy for the presidential nomination. His bid was brought out by the publication of a statement of Charles P. Taft, the Cincinnati editor, that the sentiment of the State was for his brother for the presidency.

Game of Bluff.

Some of the wise men of Washington believe that Foraker is merely playing a game of bluff in issuing his bold challenge. They say that he realizes he has no chance for the nomination and that he is merely maneuvering to insure his re-election as Senator.

Theodore Burton is not after Foraker's scalp, and is a dangerous candidate for the Senate. If Foraker is able to create a split in the Ohio delegation he will be in a position to drive a bargain that will keep him in the Senate. He is very sore both against the President and Mr. Taft, and bitterly resents the attempt of the Administration to force the big Secretary to the front as the Ohio candidate for White House honors. There are bound to be some hot times in Ohio politics during the coming summer and fall.

DEPARTMENT FROWNS ON MAIL CLERKS' BROTHERHOOD.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 27.—Hugh G. Shaugh, of this city, has been dismissed from the railway mail service for his part in the organization of the Brotherhood of Railway Mail Clerks. He was charged with the death of a railway mail service of the Pacific coast, says:

"The action of the department in the Shaugh case indicates that the department will not tolerate the brotherhood."

DYNAMITE EXPLODES WITH FATAL RESULTS.

Atlanta, Ga., March 27.—The explosion of eight cases of dynamite caps, in a car at the Peters-street freight depot of the Southern railway here early to-day, caused the death of two negroes, fatal injuries to two others and severe injuries to several persons, both white and black. The dead: Will Jenkins and Ed White, negroes. Fatally injured: Will Smith and Pink Moore, also negroes.

EDWARD BROWN TO HANG ON APRIL 26.

Governor Fixes Date For Execution of Louisville Negro Murderer.

Frankfort, Ky., March 27.—[Special.]—The Governor to-day fixed Friday, April 26, as the day for the execution of Edward Brown, colored, of Louisville, sentenced to be hanged for murder.

Edward Brown was convicted of the murder, by shooting, of Halle Edwards, colored. The crime was committed in 1904 in a house on Baxter avenue, Louisville. The negroes quarreled over some trivial matter. Brown's case was appealed to the Court of Appeals, and the death sentence affirmed. The mandate of the higher court came to the executive department a few days ago.

OFFICIALS INDICTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

JURY FIXES RESPONSIBILITY FOR BAD WRECK.

ATTRIBUTES DISASTER TO EXCESSIVE HIGH SPEED.

RESTRICTIONS RECOMMENDED

New York, March 27.—Indictments charging manslaughter in the second degree were returned to-day against the New York Central railroad, Ira McCormick, general superintendent of the company, and Alfred H. Smith, one of the vice presidents of the road, in connection with the wreck of the Brewster express on the Hartford division of the railroad last month.

McCormick and Smith entered pleas of not guilty and were released on $10,000 bail each. The grand jury also handed up a presentment containing many recommendations to the State Railroad Commissioners concerning restrictions upon railroad operation in this State.

The grand jury declares that the railroad company "feloniously, willfully and carelessly, with gross culpable negligence and misconduct" omitted to ascertain at what speed it was safe for the train to pass around the curve. It charges also, that the company omitted to exercise any effective measures to prevent the train passing around the curve at a speed faster than was safe, and that it placed the train under the control of an engineer not properly trained and experienced and not competent to run the train with safety. To the high speed the jury attributes the derailment of the train and the death and injury of the passengers.

SCATTER SWEETS ALONG ROAD AFTER BREAKING INTO GENERAL STORE.

Hickman, Ky., March 27.—[Special.]—Robbers broke into B. G. Broadhead's store at State Line, seven miles from here, and carried away several pairs of shoes and several razors and pounds of candies. George Carpenters' bloodhounds were sent from Hickman and within a few hours succeeded in tracing the thieves to a house, where they are supposed to have spent the night. Candy was found all along the trail. No arrests have as yet been made.

Breathitt.

Lexington, Ky., March 27.—[Special.]—Judge James Hargis and Ed Callahan, of Jackson, arrived here to-night and held a conference with their attorneys, Morton, Webb & Wilson, E. P. Farrel and George Hunt. Judge Hargis said that the conference was simply for the purpose of discussing legal steps in the recent suit for $100,000 filed by the children of Dr. B. D. Cox, in which Hargis and Callahan are made defendants. The law requires an answer to be filed within twenty days after suit is filed.

Judge Hargis said he had not yet discussed with his attorneys the criminal cases in which he, his brothers and Callahan are charged with the murder of James Cecil, and which have been docketed for trial here at the April term of court. He declined to say whether the defense would announce ready or not. He said there was one thing sure, he would not ask a change of venue from Fayette county.

Judge Hargis stated that he had never been to Sandy Hook, but that he understood there were good people there, and he had no objection to his case for complicity in the murder of Dr. Cox to be tried there if it could not be tried in Breathitt.

Ed Callahan said that he expected to go to Louisville to-morrow morning to buy goods for his big general store at Crooksville, in Breathitt county.

OSCAR FENLEY ELECTED
UNIVERSITY TREASURER.

Oscar Fenley, president of the National Bank of Kentucky, was elected treasurer of the University of Louisville at a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the institution held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The meeting was held in the directors' room at the bank, and was attended by a majority of the Board of Trustees, and much satisfaction was expressed after Mr. Fenley had accepted the office. During the meeting the board also discussed the purchase of a site on which to erect new buildings, but nothing definite was decided upon, and another meeting will be held in a few days to formulate more definite plans looking to the purchase of a site.

Paperhangers Name Committee.

The Paperhangers' Union at a meeting held last night at Germania Hall, appointed a committee of three to confer to-day with the dealers and effect, if possible, a settlement of differences. Matthew Frick, president of the union, said at the close of the meeting that a special meeting would be held Friday night, at which time the report of the committee of three will be made to the union. He refused to enter into details concerning the demands of the paperhangers.

BEFORE GRAND JURYMR. LANGDON SAYS IT WAS IMP-

ABLY ELICITED.

TEARFUL PLEA OF WITNESS.

San Francisco, March 27.—Twelve witnesses were summoned to-day to the grand jury in its investigation in bribery and graft during a session which lasted for six hours this afternoon. These were, in the order named: Dr. Ferdinand Butterfield, representing interests allied with the United States Independent Telephone Company; the concern which desired to bid, but did not, for the competitive franchise awarded to the Home Telephone Company. It is charged, after approximately $200,000 of bribe money had been paid to administration officials, $35,000 to the city of San Francisco and $75,000 to the earthquake and fire relief fund; E. Oppenheimer, of San Francisco; William Meade, president of the Central Bank of Los Angeles, and a stockholder in the Home Telephone Company, of that city; Mr. Sloan, of Los Angeles; F. M. Brown, a broker of Los Angeles, who had to do with the formation of the Home Telephone Company and who, it is said, has furnished the grand jury with evidence respecting the manner in which that corporation secured the San Francisco franchise after—as it is claimed—it had been improperly bought by the San States Telephone Company; W. C. Patterson, vice president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, who was financially interested in the operations of the Home company; J. S. Torrance, a Los Angeles broker; A. B. Carr, president of the Home Telephone Company of Los Angeles; T. S. Parkhurst, of Los Angeles; Mr. Dole, of Pomona, and Supervisor W. W. Sanderson, of this city, one of the several supervisors who are alleged to have furnished the grand jury with much of the ground for its indictments by confessing to wholesale bribery practiced upon themselves by the telephone companies, the local gas company, the United Railroads and other corporations. At the conclusion of the session District Attorney Langdon was asked to make a statement regarding the day's investigation. He replied:

"This was one of the most important days thus far before the grand jury, day respecting which it is necessary for the officers of the prosecution to observe the strictest silence."

This was taken to mean that the witnesses called, or some of the more important of them, had given testimony tending to corroborate the bribery and graft evidence on which sixty-five indictments have been already returned against Abraham Ruef, nine against General Manager Glass, of the Pacific States Telephone Company; thirteen against Abraham E. Dwyer, outside agent for the Home Telephone Company; ten against V. Halsey, outside agent for the Pacific States Telephone Company; five against Mayor Schmitz and one against Chief of Police Phelan.

Assistant District Attorney Heney when asked for a statement, replied:

"It would be a big mistake to make one. This is one of the days when it is our business to guard especially against publication."

Superior Surgeon, who though a young man is in feeble health, was accompanied from his Palo Alto home to the grand jury room by one of his physicians, Dr. Villard. Sanderson was surrounded by newspaper men made a pathetic appeal not to be questioned or quoted. He said this was a matter in his own behalf, but for the sake of his aged mother, who has suffered from recent occurrence in the lives of her three sons.

INDIANA FARMER PLOWS
UP $1,000 IN GOLD.Money In Ten and Twenty Dollar Pieces Buried By Man's Father
Years Ago.

Columbus, Ind., March 27.—[Special.]—Wilbur Walters, who owns a small farm in Brown county, twenty miles west of here, plowed up a treasure on his farm to-day that was more valuable than the farm, as the latter is made up of a very inferior quality of soil. The treasure plowed up consisted of $1,000 in gold in ten and twenty-dollar pieces.

The money was hidden by Walters' father over half a century ago. The father died suddenly and without revealing the whereabouts of his buried treasure, yet his relatives knew that he had buried a large sum of money on the farm. From time to time since the death of the old farmer search was made for the money, but without success. The money was buried at the roots of a large tree, and the decay of the stump of the tree, which had been cut down, made the finding of the money possible.

FALLS ASLEEP TO AWAKE
NO MORE IN THIS WORLD.

Mrs. Lulu W. Toombs, wife of William Toombs, proprietor of the Peoples' Credit Clothing Company, died suddenly at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her home, 25 Deerwood avenue. Mrs. Toombs had been ill of acute kidney trouble since Saturday night, but up till yesterday at noon her condition was not considered serious. Shortly after her physician visited her yesterday morning, Mrs. Toombs fell asleep and did not again awake. Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the residence and burial will be in Cave Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Toombs came to this city with her husband about twelve years ago, and that time had made this city her home. Her mother, Mrs. Hulda Walden, of Evansville, Ind., her husband and a brother survive her.

of Aged Couple.

Columbus, Ind., March 27.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Phillips, the venerable parents of ex-Sheriff John W. Phillips, aged respectively seventy and seventy-two years, celebrated their golden wedding here to-day. There were 500 guests present, of whom all but three families were related to the aged couple. Dinner was served in a grove near the Phillips' homestead on a table 200 feet in length.

The couple are the parents of seven children, all of whom are living, and the husband's parents were the parents of nine children, all of whom are living. The wife's parents were the parents of eleven children, all but four of whom are living. Those who are dead died within the past year of old age, and all of them were over eighty years of age, the oldest being eighty-two. The wife's mother died a few years ago at the age of ninety-six years.

SUPREME COURT HAS CASE.

Lexington, Ky., March 27.—[Special.]—The committee which was appointed at the meeting of the Colored State Teachers' Association in this city last summer to consider plans for a division of the endowment of Berea College, so that a portion should go for colored people exclusively, held a conference here to-night. The committee is composed of A. W. Titus, of Berea, formerly a member of the Board of Trustees of the college when John D. Lee was president; Prof. G. L. Williams, of Covington, president of the Colored Teachers' Association and Jordan Jackson, of this city, who is a graduate of Berea College.

Chairman Titus said to-night: "I cannot say what action will be taken. We held a conference on the subject, but that is all, and is any action recommended, it will come later. You know the case involving the constitutionality of the Day law, which excluded the negro from Berea College, is pending in the United States Supreme Court, and the decision of that court will be upon us until a decision is handed down in that case."

Twenty thousand dollars was secured from the Freedman's Bureau and $35,000 was obtained from the Avery fund. Roosevelt P. Smith, of the Century Magazine, contributed large sums, which went to improvements for the institution. Dr. Fairchild, through the efforts of Henry W. Beecher and other Northern philanthropists, raised $60,000 in New York. With these sums, all of which were contributed with the express provision that the money be used for educating the negro race, the principal buildings at Berea College, Ladies' Hall and Lincoln Hall, were erected.

The negroes of Kentucky who have been educated at Berea have given to the institution their financial and moral support, believe that it is not right and just that their children should be deprived of their right to share in the endowment, and we propose to test the matter fully. We want a school for the negroes of Kentucky, and our claim is stronger on Berea than the whites', and we propose to see if there is not some way to reach our rights."

Glasgow, Ky., March 27.—[Special.]—From a disinterested standpoint, it seems that the Republicans in Metcalfe county are in the middle of a bad fix. It is rumored that some time since the leaders in a burst of admiration for a certain senator, who was promised to deliver the county for him if he would make the race for the State Senate, had entered into a bargain with him, and that the Republicans in question had pledged themselves to support him if he were elected. It is now rumored that the senator, who was promised to deliver the county for him if he would make the race for the State Senate, had entered into a bargain with him, and that the Republicans in question had pledged themselves to support him if he were elected.

LONDON THEORY OF FINANCIAL CRISIS.Big Loan To An American Financial Magnate The Cause of All the Trouble.

London, March 28.—The financial expert of the Daily Mail has written a story of the recent financial crisis, which he says is accepted in reliable quarters. "One of our big banks," the writer says, "had lent a huge sum to one of the American magnates, the security being mainly Union Pacific. The bank decided this loan should be repaid, but on meeting with refusal, it resolved to liquidate the security by selling the Union Pacific shares in its possession. An attempt to get rid of them in large blocks on the market failed, and consequently a very large quantity was put upon the market. Those knowing these circumstances formed the natural conclusion that

ITS LARGEST CLASSFOURTEEN COMPLETE COURSE AT NEWSBOYS' HOME.DIPLOMAS DELIVERED AFTER AN INTERESTING PROGRAMME.

ADDRESS BY JUDGE BARKER.

With appropriate exercises members of the largest graduating class from the Newsboys' Home School were given their diplomas at the Louisville Mile High School building last evening, where the exercises were conducted.

The graduating class included ten boys and four girls, but unfortunately Miss Dorothy Hawkins, one of the girl graduates, was confined to her home with typhoid fever, and her diploma will have to be mailed to her. Mrs. Mattie Tucker, who has had charge of the school since its conception, arranged the programme and assisted throughout the closing exercises.

Two foreign members of one of the lower grades gave a laughable recitation in dialect and illustrated the good that the school is doing for the boys and girls who have not the time to attend day school. Both of these boys were of tender age and did not know a word of the English language when they entered the Newsboys' Home a year ago. During the recitation entitled "Down in the Meadow," by ten little boys of the school, one of them got embarrassed when it came his turn and he said "Down in the meadow," and then stopped, and then again, "Down in the meadow," and then another halt, while the audience smiled at the double halt in a good-natured way, which seemed to nerve the youngster to a mighty effort. At last he started and finally finished when loud bursts of applause greeted his success.

Another feature of the entertainment was the fact that one of the performers of the band was an old man of eighty-six years. His son is one of the regular members of the Newsboys' Home band, which furnished the music at the exercises last night, and as his father was a devotee of the violin, he finally persuaded him to assist the band, which he did with credit results.

The salutatorian of the class, Joseph S. Twickler, gave a pleasing address and used as his theme "Welcome." While the valedictorian, Miss May Jones, spoke on "My Aim," and both received generous applause.

An address was given, as has been the custom, by Judge Henry S. Baker toward the close of the exercises. He spoke to the assembled boys and the graduates especially, cautioning them to try to lead a good life and to try to save their money, instead of spending it in riotous living and that some day he hoped to see them all holding prominent positions, with a happy life before them.

President Phil B. Thompson, of the Louisville Club, delivered the diplomas and made a presentation speech to the graduates.

The programme was as follows:

pletes Permanent Organization.

Glasgow, Ky., March 27.—[Special.]—The new Glasgow Water Company, which recently purchased the old waterworks, on a guarantee from the town of Glasgow, to collect and as a part of the occupation tax, met to-day and elected the following officers: S. T. Young, president; R. L. Paul, first vice president; P. C. Combs, second vice president; J. P. Taylor, secretary; F. N. Bradford, treasurer; Price Davidson, general manager. The following directors were also elected: P. N. Bradford, R. L. Paul, W. P. Combs, S. T. Young and J. P. Taylor.

An amusing incident in connection with the meeting was the fact that while the meeting was in progress a fire alarm was sounded and it was claimed that at the time there was not an oversupply of water. The members of the company were the butts of many jokes during the afternoon. The fire proved to be at the residence of F. M. Bradford, but was extinguished before much damage was done.

"BILL" WILL GO TO

ington.

Lexington, Ky., March 27.—[Special.]—William Jennings Bryan, commonly known as "Bill," the Kentucky saddle horse which Senator J. C. S. Blackburn has ridden for several years, arrived here from Versailles to-night and will be shipped to Washington to-morrow morning to accompany his master, now a member of the Panama Canal Commission, to Panama, for which point the Commissioner expects to sail about April 1.

"Bill" is a finely gaited and handsome animal, and he and his master have been close comrades for several years during the latter's vacations in his home in Versailles. The Commissioner was emphatic in his determination not to go to Panama, where he expects to make a long stay, without his favorite horse.

SUFFERING FROM BLOW
STRUCK BY FOOTPADS.

Frank Rust, for several months a member of the White Horse Club, at St. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital recovered from a blow on the head received at the hands of footpads last Saturday night. His condition is not serious. Rust was attacked by three white men at 11 o'clock Saturday night on Broadway between Eighth and Ninth streets, when returning to the home of his cousin, J. C. Fisher, of West Chestnut street. He was knocked almost unconscious and robbed of $5 in money, his watch and other articles. For a time it was not thought that his condition was serious, but later he was taken to the hospital, it being thought that his skull was fractured. He is now out of danger.

"Business."
Wednesday Evening, March 27.—After a very strong opening, the New York stock market developed a sagging tendency, which lasted to the close, final prices showing substantial losses from yesterday's close.
Money on call was easier at 3 to 5 per cent, ruling at 4%. Time loans were easier at 6 to 8%. Sterling exchange was steady.
The Chicago wheat market was steady, final prices on the May delivery being unchanged. Corn was a shade lower.
Oats were up 1/2c.
The cotton market was dull and easier from the opening, due to disappointing influence of the sluggish condition of the Liverpool market.
The Chicago cattle market was 10c higher, the hog market 1c to 10c higher and the sheep market strong.

Dairies As Germ-Breeders.
There have been advanced by expert students of the subject widely varying theories and explanations of the cause of tuberculosis. Some take the position that the disease is contracted by inhalation and others that it is absorbed through the stomach. Once it is ascertained that it was transmitted from parent to child, and that most persons afflicted with consumption were born with the germs in their system. This contention is now passed; the disciples of the inhalation idea, on the one hand, and those of the ingestion idea, on the other, are principally in possession of the floor.
According to a report made to the United States Department of Agriculture by specialists assigned to the task of examining the subject, the inhalation theory is fallacious, and the ingestion theory is the true one. No matter how definitely one may be committed to the other idea, no theory championed by such authorities is to be lightly regarded. When these authorities go to the length of specifying milk and dairy products as the principal source of tuberculosis their views take on added gravity and bring the whole subject very close to the individual. "The wide use of milk," runs the report, "its rapid distribution, because of its perishable character, the ease with which it may be contaminated by having tubercle bacilliladen feces splashed, sprayed, switched or otherwise introduced into it in a fresh state all speak for one conclusion, namely, that we have no more active agent than the tuberculous cow for the increase of tuberculosis among animals, and its persistence among men."

For some time Louisville has been making a fight on impure milk and dairy conditions. It has been a hard, uphill fight. Some of the dairymen, apparently, have not the ability to grasp the menace impure milk is to a community's health; they see only the possibilities of making the most money with the smallest amount of care or labor, and at the least cost. If they are not dense they are dishonest. If they are not wholly dishonest they are at least lacking in conscientious scruples.
The report to the Department of Agriculture but follows the arguments of many experts who preceded its authors in the research, but since it is official and fresh it may have weight in impressing dairymen with the danger that lurks in a dairy foully run.
Dr. Allen, keep up your fight for pure milk; keep up your crusade against unclean dairies and sick cows as a branch of the warfare on tuberculosis; do not allow any breeding-places of tubercle bacilli to continue and to spread "the great white plague."

VETERAN EDITORS OF AMERICA.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

No one of the veteran editors of the United States has had a busier or more interesting career than Col. Alexander Kelly McClure, of Pennsylvania. An editor six years before the death of Henry Clay, he has known more public life than almost any other American now living. He has interviewed every President of the United States since the time of Fillmore, thirteen in all. He entered journalism in 1846 as editor of the Millin Sentinel, and retired from the chief editorship of the Philadelphia Times in 1901. He was a member of the Pittsburgh conference at which the Republican party was organized and was a delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1856, 1860 and 1864. In 1873 he was chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation in the Liberal Republican convention which nominated Greeley. Of Whig stock and himself a good Whig in his youth, he became a staunch Republican, but his political views always have been broad. He has especially devoted himself to binding up the wounds of the nation inflicted during the four years of Civil War. His lecture on Lincoln and Davis is a powerful appeal to men of both sections of the country to understand the men and measures of those days of strife with charity and to forget the hatred then engendered.

Joseph Pulitzer, owner and editor of the New York World, and owner of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, has done as much as any other one man to make the American newspaper what it is today. He was born in Hungary sixty years ago, and when he came to the United States located in St. Louis. He was employed as an assistant to the sexton of a cemetery there, until some occasional contributions gained for him a place on the Westliche Post, a German daily. This was before he became owner of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, having consolidated the Post and Dispatch. Five years thereafter he bought the New York World, and advanced it to the front ranks of American journalism.

For years he has been almost blind, and has had to depend upon an amanuensis to read to him. He has been always fearlessly independent in politics. When elected to Congress he resigned after having served but a few months. His characteristic editorials are long and exhaustive. It was an editorial of his which inspired Mr. Parker's celebrated "gold telegram" to the St. Louis convention. After Mr. Roosevelt's election by a tremendous majority, Mr. Pulitzer at once predicted that Theodore Roosevelt would be the first President to serve three terms, a prophecy which is giving certain presidential aspirants no small amount of uneasiness just at this time.

Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Philadelphia Press since 1880, is one of the few men who keep alive the traditions and practices of the old-time personal journalism. A pupil and disciple of Thurlow Weed, he received fifteen years of newspaper training at Albany, and then went to Philadelphia. When he writes an editorial no one needs to be told that "Smith wrote it." The readers of The Press are familiar with his style, a clear strong variety of English which is almost always about the bush. Mr. Smith has always been a Republican, and has supported his party in every national issue, although he has often broken away from the organization in his own State. He opposed Quay with much strength through nearly all of that gentleman's rule.

Few editors are known by one particular article, but Mr. Smith's editorial on the Freedom of the Press, written in 1894, and from which the Press has taken the title, is probably his most famous utterance. It is a plea for the freedom of the press which deserves a place among the classics of political science. Mr. Smith was Minister to Russia during the latter half of the Benjamin Harrison Administration, and was Postmaster General under McKinley and Roosevelt. Just before the beginning of the Spanish War Mr. Smith came to Washington, where he had daily conferences with McKinley. It was through his editorials in The Press that the country was informed of the exact position of the Administration from day to day. Soon afterward the President called him to the Cabinet.

Gen. Harrison Grey Otis, of the Los Angeles Times, a veteran in more ways than one, has been killed out by an incident which happened a few years ago in Mexico. I had been sent to the Southern Republic by a number of editors to obtain an interview with President Porfirio Diaz on a subject that was then an important issue. Gen. Otis was one of the editors I represented, and in the course of my conversation with the Mexican executive it developed that he was a great admirer of the famous publisher of the Times. President Diaz said: "Few men ever became distinguished in even one line of endeavor, but Gen. Otis is both a great soldier and a great editor."

As a young man Gen. Otis took part in the revolution of Abraham Lincoln at the Chicago convention, being one of the delegates from Kentucky. When the call to arms sounded in the Civil War, young Otis responded promptly. He went into the ranks and served throughout the war, coming out a brevet Lieutenant Colonel. He again offered his services to his country in the recent war with Spain, and it was his brigade that stormed and captured Cebu, in the Philippines. During his long and arduous war service he has fought in fifteen actions, been twice wounded in battle and seven times promoted upon merit.

Perhaps it was Uncle Joe's forty-nine-helicopter-power cigar that was quarantined at Panama.

I heard a war story of Gen. Felix Agnus, the genial soldier and publisher of the Baltimore American, which shows that even in the fiercest conflicts there were always incidents to prove the brotherhood of man. I think it was during one of the engagements around Richmond in the Seven Days' Fight. Agnus, then a Captain in rank, fell and his horse was killed. He was mortally wounded. The fighting had been at close quarters, and when the Union officer recovered consciousness he found a Confederate officer lying directly across him. Agnus did his utmost to release himself from the grasp of what he felt sure was a dead man, but it was not long before he saw that the Confederate was recovering from his swoon. The poor fellow had received an ugly gash, and begged piteously for water. Agnus remembered that he had some cold coffee in his canteen, and after great difficulty, and that should have been nearly torn away, he raised himself slightly, and said: "Here you are, Johnny; take some of this coffee." The wounded man reached for the proffered canteen and drank of its cooling contents with great relief; then he said, "Yank, I thank you, damn you."

Years after this story was told by Gen. Agnus at a banquet given by the Press Club in New York, the General adding: "I have often wondered what became of the man who damaged me, while he thanked me, and thought that if he had survived the war, I would have been glad to meet him." Scarcely had the General finished speaking when a handsome, athletic-looking gentleman came toward him and said: "I am the man you befriended, and once more I thank you with all my heart, and believe me, I have no wish to supplement my thanks as I did on that occasion." The gentleman proved to be Maj. James Randolph, who was an officer on Stonewall Jackson's staff.

J. C. Hemphill, editor of the Charleston News and Courier, is one of the veterans of American journalism. He is known as the conservative editor of the most conservative newspaper in the United States. Mr. Hemphill is about sixty years old, straight and active, possessing a keen eye and a ready wit. He is one of the most popular men in the South. His editorials are always on the conservative side, except when they assail radicalism, and then they are apt to be a bit radical themselves. Mr. Hemphill and the distinguished Senator from South Carolina, Mr. Tillman, have not always agreed, and Mr. Hemphill has said that his say on more than one occasion. The News and Courier was the last paper in the United States to hold to the old notion that it was improper to publish society news, conservatively bowing to the wishes of Charleston's St. Cecilia assembly.

Mr. Hemphill was attending a publishers' meeting not long since. A man with a scheme made a speech about a plan to double the circulation of a paper and triple the advertising. Then the South Carolina man, Count de Cavour, commented: "It may do very well for some parts of the country," he said, "but Charleston is bounded on the east by 3,000 miles of water, and on the west by several hundred miles of mosquitoes. There are about as many white people in the city of St. Louis as there are in the State of South Carolina. I think we will stick to our own methods. The mosquitoes seem to like 'em." The past two years Mr. Hemphill has devoted his whole energy to the work of trying to induce white immigration from the Northern States and from Europe to come to South Carolina. He is the moving spirit in the Southern States Immigration Association.

ATTACKED BY MADMAN.

S. MAZCYK O'BRIEN'S EXCITING EXPERIENCE ON SHIP.

Returning From Europe When Insane Chicago Man Imagined He Was the Pope—Evidence of Encounter.

S. Mazzyk O'Brien, one of the best-known young men of Louisville, had an exciting experience with a madman who tried to choke him to death while on his return trip from Europe, Sunday a week ago. The man, who is a Chicago broker, had become insane suddenly, and attached Mr. O'Brien so suddenly that it is believed the latter would have been badly used but for the timely arrival of the stewards of the ship. Mr. O'Brien has several bruises to show as evidence of the encounter.

Mr. O'Brien and the party were returning from Europe, and were one day away from New York when the assault occurred. In the party were Mr. Powhatan Woodruff, Miss Mary Tyler Woodruff, Miss Eugene Fetter, and Mr. O'Brien, who were on their wedding trip. During the services Sunday morning the Chicago man became insane and made good his threat.

That night Miss Fetter was awakened by a sudden knocking on her door and raising a great disturbance. She called to Mr. O'Brien, who occupied a stateroom several doors away to get out and go to the corridor. When Mr. O'Brien appeared in the corridor the man rushed toward him and began to choke him. Mr. O'Brien made an unsuccessful effort to get away from the madman's grasp, and at last called for assistance. Mr. O'Brien and the rest of the party rushed into the corridor, and the Chicago man became insane and made good his threat.

The latter suffered under the hallucination that Mr. O'Brien was the Pope, and would not release his grasp in spite of Mr. O'Brien's hearty protestations.

Mr. Robert Bonnie, who is a student at Andover, Mass., will arrive today to be with his mother, Mrs. Robert Bonnie, until after the Easter holidays.

Music and the Drama.

It is a unusual thing for the star of any theatrical company to play under the name of any other actress. It is even more unusual for a soprano of income to appear in a character where she is supposed on the stage to have attained more years than are to her credit in actual life. The above two statements, however, are true of the star of "The Cowboy Girl" company playing this week at the Avenue.

It is Marie Flynn who plays the leading role of Gyp in this production, and not Julia Rowland as the bills and program lead one to believe. Miss Rowland started the season in this part, but was taken ill recently and compelled to abandon her work. It was then that Miss Flynn was engaged for the part, and she has since been playing it under Miss Rowland's name.

Another point of interest in this connection is that Miss Flynn is unquestionably the youngest star of her work week. She is just fourteen years of age, and if she were in New York State the Gerry Society would put a stop to her appearance on the stage. Up to the present time Maude Allen has been the youngest actress of being America's youngest star; she must take this place to Miss Flynn by several years.

Miss Flynn is pretty, graceful, animal, and disconcerting. She has been here last year and earlier in the present season, with the play "The House of Mystery." Her present part, however, gives her much better opportunities of which she takes full advantage. Her performance in every detail that she does in "The Cowboy Girl" is a revelation of her work week. Those who have seen her in "The Cowboy Girl" it would seem, will indorse the statement that she is a star of the first class, much higher achievement in the profession she has chosen.

Visitors to the Masonic this week—and there has been unusually good patronage here—have seen a play which has been the star of the company, "The House of Mystery." The play is Eugene Presley's delightful melodrama, "The House of Mystery." Her present part, however, gives her much better opportunities of which she takes full advantage. Her performance in every detail that she does in "The Cowboy Girl" is a revelation of her work week. Those who have seen her in "The Cowboy Girl" it would seem, will indorse the statement that she is a star of the first class, much higher achievement in the profession she has chosen.

It is a strong, convincing performance that Miss Flynn gives of the character of Gyp, the gentleman crackman. Mr. Kent is an ideal actor, and his work in the play is the work of the intelligent actor of ability and experience. Those who have seen him in "The Cowboy Girl" it would seem, will indorse the statement that she is a star of the first class, much higher achievement in the profession she has chosen.

Olga Netherole, as acknowledged by many to be the greatest of all the English-speaking actresses, will begin her engagement at Macaulay's Theater this evening. The opening bill will be "Sappho," in which Miss Netherole will play the part of Sappho. It is a great success here last season. It has been and repeatedly that this great actress is seen at her best in this play, and it gives full scope to her wonderful dramatic powers.

Miss Netherole is said to be surrounded by an unusually strong supporting company, every one of whom will play to his or her special fitness for the part played. This offering of "Sappho" is also remembered as being one of the handsomest and most effective productions seen in the city. Miss Netherole will be seen here for the remainder of the week, with the play "Sappho," and it is expected that she will receive splendid patronage.

The sale of seats begins this morning for the opening of the Mary Anderson Theater at the corner of 2nd and 3rd streets, at 10 p. m. The attraction chosen for this event is DeWolf Hopper, who is appearing in two comic operas, "Happyland," which will be offered for the first time, and "The House of Mystery," which will be offered for the first time. The opening of the theater will be a complete production with splendid cast, big chorus and full orchestra.

The announcement was made yesterday by General Bingham that the "Traveling Man," at Macaulay's Theater, next Wednesday afternoon.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 27.— (Special.)—A card of more than ordinary caliber was offered this afternoon. Close and exciting finishes marked the running of several of the events, especially in the sixth, a sprint at seven furlongs, in which but three candidates were entered. Beside, the only other entry, having been withdrawn.

Morales, W. H. Fizer's strapping commoner colt, tried to make the favorite of the crowd, a 3 to 1, while Royal Breeze, the warmly placed second choice, went to the post at 7 to 2. Bitter Miss,
the only other starter, broke to the front and ran a race with Morales, under a vigorous ride, drew away to win by a head from the Burlew colt.

With the scratching out of Toboggan,
Charlie Eastman and Dargin, Robin Hood, Johnny Mayberry's star sprinter, had little or no trouble in capturing the fourth, the feature of the card, a handicap affair at five furlongs, from Frontenac, Rusk and other sprinters. The winner, under a vigorous ride, drew away to win by a head from the Burlew colt.

SYNDICATE OF BREEDERS TO BUY LEXINGTON RACE TRACK

Will Make Cash Payment of $25,000 and Give a Meeting
Beginning On April 27.

MATT J. WINN, president of the American Turf Association, returned last night from Lexington full of enthusiasm over the coming race meeting in the Bluegrass capital, which begins on April 27.
According to President Winn, a syndicate is being formed of the most prominent breeders of the Bluegrass country, and this body, it is expected, will purchase the Lexington track before Saturday night. This syndicate will be composed of J. N. Camden, the Chennault brothers, Col. Zeke Clay, Tom McDowell, J. B. Hagen, Stanley Lynn, E. R. Bradley and other men who are prominent in the raising of the thoroughbred horse.

The Lexington track will cost the syndicate $70,000, but according to the present plan twenty-five breeders will put up $1,000 each in order to make the cash payment.
